

Next the 4th grade Cathedral students played the native game called stick ball with Bart. Bart did a good job talking with the students about how Native Americans used to play this game and the rules involved. The kids were then split into groups and played each other. This was a big hit with the kids and a great way to get them moving before lunch.